Explain a preference with because

Read or look closely

“I prefer swimming because I like being in the water.”

Answers

1. Which word introduces the reason in the example?

because

2. Complete: “I like reading ___ I enjoy stories.”

because

3. Join these two ideas in one sentence with “because”: I like skating. I can skate with my cousins.

I like skating because I can skate with my cousins.

4. Choose an activity and give a reason different from the example.

Example: I prefer biking because I enjoy being outside.

5. Ask someone about a preference and write down their answer in English.

Example: “Why do you like drawing?” “I like it because it is relaxing.”
